What you need to know:
The biggest challenge for a business leader is not how to get the job done, but how to get the job done right. It's not just about the bottom line, it's about the people who make it happen. It's about the relationships that build the foundation of a successful business.

Get the most out of your business:
1. Focus on your core competencies.
2. Invest in your people.
3. Build strong relationships.
4. Stay flexible and adaptable.

Recognizing Recognition
... And it shouldn't be the exception!
When we talk about recognition, we're talking about the things that make us feel good about ourselves and our work. It's not just about the money, it's about the appreciation and respect that we receive from our colleagues and superiors.
